Hello Ken,

Attached please find the 2008 SAB report on the consultation of a proposed bin-specific approach for potency factors for inhalation exposure to asbestos.

At least 1 of the SACC members were on the 2008 SAB panel, (Kenny Crump was proposing that approach). They were discussing about the results of the consultation during panel deliberation. The result of the consultation was not in favor of that approach.

I found the report in SAB archive last week. I added the report as a reference, but was not sure to send it to the panel. I think the current panel should be independent of the thoughts of the previous panel. What do you think?

Best Regards,
Diana
